It's not nice if your operating funds are weakened by the high cost of buying credit. Therefore, be a smart mobile user. Here are some tips you can apply to save your cell phone's credit usage:¹. Choose a credit package according to your needs Everyone's communication needs are not the same as each other's. There is someone who likes to call very much. There are also those who still communicate strongly with SMS. Most other people can not get away from using the Internet for various communication applications. If you already know your specific needs, it would be better if you directly buy a package that suits your needs shortly after purchasing a loan online. Each operator must have packages that fit these needs, from internet data packets, SMS packets, to phone packets. Believe it or not, with these packages your credit amount will be more maintained. It is also not forbidden to activate more than one package.². Optimizing the bonus when loading online with some nominal, it is not uncommon for operators to provide bonuses for their users. Unfortunately, there are those who ignore bonuses. However, if used, you can save enough credits. So, from now on, always pay attention and optimize the cheap credit bonus you will receive. If you receive a bonus for a call at certain times, there is nothing wrong with using these certain hours to call with a long duration (if necessary). On the other hand, in times when the bonus is not valid, it is better to use your phone or messages more appropriately.³. Use AppApabil often need communication by phone or message, try switching to a free communication app such as Line, as well as fuel. All you have to do is pack your credit and you can freely use these apps for different communication needs. You can even call without having to take into account how much money was spent on the call, because the phone rate takes the data from the Internet that you bought. It's funny, isn't it? Not only that, but you can also freely send messages without having to think about the cost of a message or as a sign⁴. Turn on the lock keys on your phone Have you ever experienced an accidental call from someone because the phone in your pocket is crushed or shifted? Of course, this is unpleasant and makes the pulse quickly fall, without even knowing. Especially nowadays, when most people use the touch screen of mobile phones, such as today, the accidental connection of people, because the screen is touched or shifted, will grow. In anticipation of this, it would be wise if you always activate the lock screen button on your phone. Make sure that the lock button is difficult to open because it requires a password. This way, you can prevent accidental calls and don't waste credits.⁵ Make sure that similar carriers the cost of a phone call to another carrier seems to be much more expensive if you call a similar carrier. Therefore, to save credit before calling someone, make sure that the operator used it first. If it's different from the one you're using, just send it a message or use an online communication app. This will make your credit more efficient. Save.
